

Quick Reference – When do I get the money that people have contributed to my fundraising effort?

Since you are using your own merchant account, the money will post to your account as soon as the credit card company releases it. It's generally 2 days for Visa, MasterCard and Discover, and can take up to three days from American Express. We'll never hold your money in between the contribution and your merchant account.